Website Content

The information on the Arizona Golf Association (“AZ GOLF,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) website, www.azgolf.org, is provided for general purposes only. While we aim to offer accurate, up-to-date content, it’s shared “as is” and without any guarantees. We cannot ensure the complete accuracy or relevance of any material and recommend using the information at your own risk.

We’re not liable for any loss or damage from using our website or relying on its content.

Third-Party Links

Our website may contain links to external sites. While we aim to link to quality sources, we don’t control or verify these third-party websites and aren’t responsible for their content. If you click on these links, please review their terms and privacy policies before sharing any personal information.

Professional Guidance

Any fitness advice on our website is for general information only and not a substitute for professional guidance. Always consult with a professional before taking any actions based on this information.

Advertising Content

Our website may display third-party advertisements. AZ GOLF does not endorse or verify the claims made by these advertisers. Users are advised to carefully review any products or services before making purchases.

Copyright and Intellectual Property

All materials on our website, unless noted otherwise, are owned or licensed by AZ GOLF and protected by copyright laws. You can share content for personal, non-commercial use, with proper credit to AZ GOLF. For any other uses, please contact us at info@azgolf.org.

Consent

By using our website, you agree to this disclaimer.
