OVERVIEW OF VPMMA

The Military pours tens of thousands experienced, talented, cleared, educated, and credentialed Project Managers (PMs) into the talent pool every year. However, a large percentage of these Veterans are not equipped to translate their expertise and experience into the civilian workforce.

The Veteran Project Manager Mentor Alliance (VPMMA) is a 501c3 Non-Profit Organization that connects these Service Members, Veterans and Military Spouses with industry PM mentors so they can transition into meaningful civilian PM careers.

TESTIMONIALS

“My mentor gave me great insights into what the corporate world looks for when hiring. I used his advice to improve my resume and to work on my interview skills.”

~DICK

“Quintus gave me some advice that changed how I approached my job search. Once I made the change I got the job I wanted and they gave me everything I asked for in terms of compensation. Having successfully transitioned from the military to the private sector I find many military brothers and sisters asking for advice. I share what I learned from Quintus that helped make my transition easier.”

~CHAD

“VPMMA has helped me to be cognizant of the differences between the military and the business sector. It has also helped me to identify areas of improvement and has helped me to realize that I am in a better position than what I had originally thought. I am now more aware during my interactions as to how I speak and I leave the military jargon out.”

~ANDREA

“I have learned a lot from Kim, a seasoned professional in the Project and program Management field. I have used many of her suggestions for projects in my new position.

~CHARLES
